The folding chair designed for Molteni&C is conceived as a spontaneous gesture within the continuity of the outdoor collection. It is the response to a silent desire: to add to the family an element capable of interpreting the freedom of outdoor living through a new, light, intimate language. The folding chair does not impose, does not occupy: it accompanies. It is an object that moves with the user, finding its place in the most diverse contexts—from a sunlit terrace to the edge of a quiet garden—capable of transforming from a casual presence into an accomplice to more intimate moments. It carries within it a soul suspended between romanticism and pragmatism, a simplicity that does not renounce quality, a technical gesture that translates into emotion. For Molteni&C, this seat introduces a new interpretation of outdoor living: an elegance made of clarity, precision, attentive craftsmanship, but above all an innate sense of pleasure. It is an object designed to move lightly through spaces, to merge with a contemporary lifestyle that favors fluidity and authentic presence. Within it is condensed the idea that luxury does not reside in the weight of objects, but in their ability to follow the rhythm of our time, inviting us—each time we open it—to grant ourselves a moment of quiet, wherever that moment may choose to arise.
