

CHELSEA OUTDOOR — DORDONI STUDIO 2026

The Chelsea Outdoor collection is conceived as an authentic evolution of the indoor project, reinterpreted to dialogue with the outdoor landscape without losing the formal coherence and distinctive character that define its identity. The transition to the outdoors is expressed through the choice of aluminum, introduced in the bases as a new structural material capable of guaranteeing lightness, stability and resistance to atmospheric agents. The die-cast legs, rigorous and harmonious in their form, are connected by extruded profiles that recreate the characteristic “C”-shaped geometry, an iconic element reinterpreted in an outdoor key. The use of aluminum, a noble material in terms of performance and aesthetic quality, lends the collection an architectural elegance, clean and contemporary. The formal evolution is particularly evident in the backrests, where tubular aluminum frames are wrapped with a technical textile webbing, designed to ensure durability and comfort. A meticulous weave, the result of careful craftsmanship, draws a sophisticated diamond pattern that runs along the entire perimeter, introducing a decorative language that is discreet yet distinctive. The sartorial care of the collection also emerges in the cushioning, designed for en plein air use and defined by a subtle piping that outlines its profile. At the heart of the collection is the modular system of the Chelsea Outdoor sofa, conceived according to a simple and intuitive logic of modularity. Elements such as the two-seater sofa or the terminal side module offer greater depth, transforming into true islands dedicated to relaxation, with an elegant and informal allure. Chelsea Outdoor thus presents itself as a complete collection, capable of defining environments with a balanced and timeless atmosphere.
